Integration Reflections

Three areas of Integration:

SPIRITUAL

- What are you learning about yourself (both positive and negative)?
- What core beliefs did you discover, are these beliefs hindering or helping, and do they align with your core values?
- What would be the consequences (positive and negative) of letting go of some of these beliefs? What would it feel like to let go of them?

EMOTIONAL

- What kinds of emotions are arising?
- How do you feel about these emotions?
- How is your view of these emotions different?
- What could you change in your environment or relationships to better manage these emotions?

PHYSICAL

- How do the emotions you are discovering manifest physically?
- What kind of practices or movements could help you process these emotions and the physical after effects.
- Is there anything you feel needs to change in your physical environment?

How to support your integration process

Your self-care regimen will greatly support you in the process. Get the best possible outcome!

Self-care practices

- Meditation: zazen, vipassana, mindfulness, guided, transcendental
- Breathing techniques
- Movement with meditation: Yoga, Taiji, Qigong
- Exercise: Hiking, cycling, martial arts
- Arts and self-expression: Art, dance, singing, music, writing.
- Good nutrition. Eating fresh vegetables and fruits and avoiding processed foods.
- Time in nature: Camping, hiking, gardening
- Listening to medicinal music to connect with plants.
- Keeping a daily log of how you feel and your observations.
